Acrodex Adds Another Microsoft Packaged Services Program: SharePoint Deployment Planning Service (SDPS)

Edmonton, Alberta, Canada – March 24th 2009 - Today, Acrodex Inc. announced a new Microsoft packaged services program offering with the addition of SDPS.

Acrodex's continued delivery of Microsoft packaged services allows customers to leverage their Microsoft Software Assurance (SA) benefit vouchers by redeeming them for structured consulting engagements included as part of Microsoft's Enterprise Agreement Volume Licensing program.

What is SDPS?

SDPS is a Software Assurance Packaged Services benefit. It is designed to help organizations plan an effective deployment of Microsoft Office SharePoint Server (MOSS). SDPS includes a broad range of planning tools and services that help optimize the effectiveness of SharePoint's core capabilities, and help lower the cost of deployment and adoption. This is accomplished via a reliable, repeatable process for certified SDPS consultants to conduct a 1, 3, 5, 10, or 15-day programmatic planning sessions funded by Software Assurance benefits.

An SDPS engagement focuses on three main Microsoft SharePoint sections:

- Qualify and Develop, Solution, Proof, mapping to Solution Development
- Strategy Briefing and Architecture Design
- Proof of Concept and Production Pilot respectively

"The SDPS competency enables Acrodex to deliver additional value-based services around Microsoft's SA benefit program. The SDPS approach gives customers answers to "where", and "how" to best deploy SharePoint to improve team productivity and internal collaboration" explained Acrodex Chief Information Officer, Salma Rajwani.
