Acrodex Honored as a Winner of Operational Excellence at 2010 Microsoft Worldwide Partner Conference

(Edmonton, Alberta, August 13, 2010) – Today, Acrodex announced it has won the Operational Excellence Award at the 2010 Microsoft Worldwide Partner Conference. The company was chosen out of the North American field of top Microsoft Partners for delivering market-leading operational excellence supporting Microsoft technology. The awards were distributed at a ceremony July 15th in Washington D.C. at Microsoft's Worldwide Partner Conference.

“We are pleased to be announced as an award-winner among such a strong pool of candidates. As a leading provider of IT solutions and services across Canada, to see such exceptional results in each one of the award criteria categories is gratifying,” said Acrodex CIO Salma Rajwani.

“We thank Microsoft as well as our dedicated employees for making this possible.”

Winners were chosen from a pool of more than 31 entrants in the US and Canada.

Acrodex was recognized for superior operational excellence, meeting or exceeding specific requirements for the number of valid agreements in a variety of categories, as well as the number of on-time and valid order submissions and revenue reconciliation.

By meeting these operational criteria, these winners have illustrated their commitment to providing value and customer satisfaction.

“We are fortunate to work with a large number of partners who consistently demonstrate a high level of passion for Microsoft products and consistently deliver high quality, innovative solutions to their clients,” said Matt Rossmeissl, Vice President of Microsoft Commercial Operations. “I’m pleased to honor this year’s winners of the Operational Excellence award in recognition of their enthusiastic dedication to both Microsoft and our mutual customers.”

“Our partners are the backbone of Microsoft’s customer reach across the world,” states Mary Ellen Smith, General Manager for the America’s Operating Center. “In achieving Microsoft’s 2010 Operations Excellence award, these 15 partners demonstrate their commitment to delivering unparalleled customer service and satisfaction. We applaud their efforts and are pleased to present them with this distinction.”

The Microsoft Licensing Operational Excellence Awards recognize Microsoft Partners that have developed and delivered operational excellence over the past year.
