To whom it may concern:

This letter certifies that Acrodex is fully authorized to sell and integrate NEC Display Solutions products throughout Canada. Acrodex has completed NEC's highest level of certification necessary in providing manufacturer authorized sales, integration and support of our full line of display products.

Acrodex ranks within our top ten North American reseller alliances. Their commitment to our lines avail's numerous benefits such as business partnership programs, priority support, product non-disclosure, priority allocation, and advisory council participation – just to name a few. The net benefit to their clients is the highest level of service that NEC could conceivably provide in the supply of NEC Display products in the Canadian marketplace. This status has been achieved due to Acrodex's preeminent standing, their reputation and historical run-rates with our organization.

NEC is pleased to partner with Acrodex and is confident that they have the right people, infrastructure and technical expertise to effectively handle all prospective NEC clients' display technology requirements.
